

SPORTSWEAR DESIGNER F/M

"I am passionate about sportswear design. Coming to work with a smile and having all of these creative minds around me is something everyone should experience." – Anna, Senior Designer

Style permeates life and sportswear must look as good as it works. By skilfully balancing looks and function, garments you design will deliver on-brand experiences to wearers. Taking part in the entire design process, you will:

- > Create on-brand apparel collections by combining your design background and passion for sports.
- > Develop concepts and new cuts. Create production data.
- > Work with suppliers to build garment prototypes.
- > Present finished products. Internally and externally to the client.

To make the cut, you need:

- > At least two years of professional experience. During which you developed in terms of skill, knowledge and style.
- > Experience developing functional sports gear. A passion for action and outdoor sports.
- > An open mind and willingness to work across creative fields to challenge status-quo ideas.
- > English fluency. German skills are an asset.
