

LOVING LETTERS ITS ALL ABOUT TEXT

Loving Letters is...

...all about the love for words, the love for lingo,
the love for communication.

I'm a freelancing author, copy writer and translator based at the French Atlantic Coast and working for international magazines (eg. HUCK, Cooler, Onboard, ...) and companies like Völkl Snowboards, Red Bull, RVCA and many more.

I'm an expert in writing interviews and features, creating PR texts tailored to specific target groups and bringing even the most abstract ideas onto paper.

As a journalist and author I often write about exceptional people and their fascinating ways of life:

For example about the Colombian cliffdiver Orlando Duque who used to earn his living with show dives in amusement parks and later became world champion in one of the most dangerous sports on this planet. Or about the millionaire David de Rothschild who invested his money in a boat made of plastic bottles sailing the Pacific for three months and raising awareness about the pollution of the oceans.

My services include copywriting, editorial content/ concepts, PR texts, proofreading and translations (GER-ENG-GER).
