

Hello!

I have over five years' experience writing about lots of different areas within the outdoor and action sports industry, from product copy, reviews and technical descriptions to lifestyle articles, travel pieces and interviews. My editing experience extends from proofreading and copy editing articles for print magazines to curating blogs series, while I've also worked on creating social media and marketing campaigns.

Living in Morzine-Avoriaz, I've been lucky enough to work with a range of independent local businesses such as airport transfer companies, ski schools and holiday companies, as well as larger outlets like EpicTV, Whitelines, Mpora and Fall-Line Magazine.

Whether you're looking for someone to bring a fresh voice to your blog or magazine or if you need someone to touch up your latest workbook or product copy, I can help and I look forward to working with you.
