

UI & GRAPHIC DESIGN INTERN F/M

“Design is a labour of love, so it’s important that I’m involved in the entire design process. Not just bits and pieces.” – Lucas, Graphic Designer

Communication design is a vast and competitive calling. Any edge you gain in your skills and experience counts. KISKA is an international studio that can offer you the opportunity to gain a deep understanding of how brand, user needs and other creative fields impact and influence your field. This internship will include:

- > Real design projects for international clients, with room for you to execute your ideas independently.
- > Interdisciplinary teams with people from all over the world. Plus a dynamic and informal working atmosphere with a collaborative team and exciting clients.
- > Getting plenty of responsibility from day one. Personal and professional development.

To make the most of the experience, you need:

- > Availability for six months.
- > To be a master’s design student. Or, a recent graduate in communication design, digital media design, interface design, or screen design.
- > Highly developed skill in the Adobe Creative Suite, as well as some knowledge of Sketch.
- > Experience designing online portals, shop systems, or websites. Some professional experience. Internships or otherwise.
- > A teamwork-oriented personality. Excellent communication skills.
- > Very good English skills. German skills are an asset.
